CROW WAR TO BE REVIVED HERE BY NEW B.C. BOUNTY

Government Ends Truce and Offers Fifteen Cents For Head of Every Destroyer

Feathered Criminals Must go, Agriculturists and Game Experts Declare

Many a happy crow family, just building its nest and settling down to the pleasant duty of rearing a family, will be rudely interrupted in its domestic pursuits as a result of an Order-in-Council, passed today by the Government, fixing a fifteen-cent bounty on these birds from now until June 30.

Magpies, crows, relatives of the crow tribe, also are included in the death warrant signed at the Parliament Buildings.

To earn the bounty crow-killers must present the heads of their victims, together with "the terminal portions of the eight wings" to a Government agent or a Provincial constable, within ten days of the actual execution.

SERIOUS CHARGES

Farmers and game enthusiasts are the men behind the crow offensive planned for the next three months.
They charge crows and magpies with crimes as black as the birds'
own feathers. Killing game birds, ruining crops, murdering young sheep—these are a few of the crimes laid to the door of the bird criminals. On the other hand, the crow does not lack champions. Last year, when a bounty was declared, large numbers of bird-lovers denounced the Game Board's plan to kill crows on the ground that the charges against them were not substantiated, and that a crow was innocent until he had been proved guilty.

ALBANIAN DISPUTE IS NEAR SOLUTION

Jugoslav-Italian Negotiations
Are Expected Soon to End Controversy

Belgrade, April 6.—Solution of the controversy between Italy and Jugoslavia over the Albanian frontier situation is near, in the opinion of foreign diplomats here. This belief was expressed in various quarters to-day despite the fact that direct negotiations between the Italian and Jugoslav Governments have not yet been started.

It is understood M. Raditch, Jugoslav Minister at Rome, will ask Premier Mussolini to explain the provisions of the Tirana Treaty between Italy and Albania. If these are found to establish Italy's Albanian relations on a basis satisfactory to Jugoslavia, the Belgrade Government
will ratify the Nettuno convention,
a series of commercial accords with Italy, which are considered here to be most advantageous to Italy.

Then a commission including the British and French military attaches
here, accompanied by a member of the German legation, will visit Albania, with the full co-operation of Italian and Jugoslav authorities, to investigate the present situation.

PEACE MESSAGE TO U.S. FROM BRIAND

French Foreign Minister Says World's Need is Spirit of Peace

Paris, April 6.—More important than technical disarmament is the will for peace, declared Aristide Briand, Foreign Minister, in a message sent to the people of the United States through the Associated Press on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the entry of the United States into the World War.

M. Briand's message, sent on the heels of France's refusal to participate in the three-power naval disarmament conference at Geneva, insists the paramount necessity in preventing war is the cultivation of the civilized world of a spirit of peace interpreted through "a policy of peace"
on the part of all nations.

SUPPRESSING WAR IDEA

France, adds the Foreign Minister, has rebuilt her armaments with one idea, namely, defence, and in her new universal service law "she intends for the first time to suppress the very idea of war being profitable, and place its above any other nation, such as France, should greatly contribute in the eyes of the world to enlarge and fortify the foundation on which the international policy of peace is being erected."

BIG COMPANY IN JAPAN SUSPENDS

Liabilities of Suzuki Exporting and Importing Firm Are About $275,000,000

Bills Not Being Paid For the Present; Stock Market Affected

Tokio, April 6.—With liabilities of approximately 500,000,000 yen (about $275,000,000) the well-known Suzuki firm, exporters and importers, announced also there would be no payment of bills for the present.

The temporary suspension of the firm, which controls from sixty to seventy large subsidiaries, affected the stock market and caused the yen
to drop in exchange value.

GERMANY NOW URGES RIFLES BE LIMITED

At Geneva Preparatory Disarmament Session Berlin Suggests Fewer Tanks

Proposals Laid Before Nations'
Delegates Come as Surprise

Geneva, April 6.—Germany created some what of a sensation at this afternoon's session of the Preparatory Disarmament Commission of the League of Nations here by introducing an additional treaty clause whereby the signatories would agree to limit the armaments of their land forces, including rifles, machine guns, howitzers, mortars, tanks and armored cars.

No such limitation appears on the draft treaty as at present constitu-tuted.

Viscount Cecil of Great Britain told the newspapermen he thought it impracticable.

NAVAL PROPOSALS

Lord Cecil announced this afternoon that he had made a counter-proposition to Paul Boncour of France concerning the method of naval limitation, and that the French delegate reiterated he expected an accord would eventually be reached.

SAPIRO TELLS JURY OF RESIGNING FROM FARM BUREAU BOARD

Detroit, Mich., April 6.—Aaron Sapiro testified in the trial of the $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford here to-day that he had resigned as counsel for the co-operative marketing committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation, as had Walton Petet, director of the committee, when they learned the provisions of the Tirana Treaty between Italy and Albania. If these are found to establish Italy's Albanian
relations on a basis satisfactory to Jugoslavia, the Belgrade Government
will ratify the Nettuno convention,
a series of commercial accords with Italy, which are considered here to be most advantageous to Italy.

Then a commission including the British and French military attaches
here, accompanied by a member of the German legation, will visit Albania, with the full co-operation of Italian and Jugoslav authorities, to investigate the present situation.

BRITAIN BARS OUT CASARES

Former Part Owner of Whisky Ship is to Return to the United States

Liverpool, April 6.—Madame Gloria de Casares Jr., who left the liner Alaunia here yesterday, has been ordered to return to the United States and will sail on the liner Caronia Saturday. It is understood Madame Casares is ill at her hotel and that a physician is in attendance.

The Home Office to-day confirmed its order refusing her permission to travel in England. The authorities did not divulge their reason for the action.

The former motion picture actress and once added part owner of the whisky ship General Ferret told an interviewer she desired to make her home in London and added:

"The whole thing is a mystery and too ridiculous for words."

CHINESE TAKEN OFF STRANDED VESSEL

500 Out of 1,500 Safely Removed From Ship Near Hongkong

London, April 6.—A Hongkong Newspaper reports that the Dutch liner Tjileboet, bound for Java with 1,500 Chinese emigrants, stranded off Lightning Island, fifteen miles south of Hongkong, in heavy weather.

Distress signals brought the British cruiser Prohiber, which at the time the disaster was filed had taken off 500 of the migrants and was still standing by. Other ships were rushing to the assistance of the liner, which was said to be partly waterlogged.

MEMBERS VOTING ON CHAMBER DIRECTORS

Primary Ballots For Eleven Vacancies Mailed To-day

Ballots for the election of eleven members to the board of directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce are being sent out to members to-day.

Members are asked to fill out their ballots with the names of eleven members. After these primary ballots have been counted the names of the twenty-two members with the highest number of votes will be sent out on the final ballot. From these the members will be asked to select another eleven and these will serve as directors for a two-year term.

The eleven new members will serve on the board with the following directors who were elected for a two-year term last year: H. Ansonby, S.
J. Drake, J. H. Fletcher, R. W. May-new, J. C. Pendray, J. W. Spencer and A. E. Todd.

All the ballots being sent out today must be returned to the Chamber of Commerce by 5 o'clock on Monday, April 11.

FERDINAND RECEIVES CHURCH'S LAST RITES

Announcement of Death of Roumanian King Expected
Hourly

Vienna, April 6.—A Bucharest dispatch to The Neue Presse Presse this morning stated that King Ferdinand had received the last rites of the church and that his death was expected
hourly.

The same correspondent said the National Peasant Party was trying to enforce a demand that the king summon a crown council at his bedside and revoke the exclusion of former Crown Prince Carol from succession to the throne.

CAROL AT NEUILLY

Paris, April 6.—Former Crown Prince Carol of Roumania was still at Neuilly to-day awaiting a summons to the bedside of his father,
King Ferdinand, at Bucharest.

The Paris Journal said it had learned he was being closely observed by a group of financiers specially interested in Roumanian petroleum. The newspaper said the group had purchased two aeroplanes, ostensibly to aid Carol in getting to Roumania, quickly should he desire to do so.

It is the opinion of some that Carol is arranging to set up some kind of organization with the object of regaining his rights to the throne, which he renounced more than a year ago.

INSURANCE COMPANY
BILL BEFORE M.P.'S

Ottawa, April 6.—A bill respecting the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada was talked out in the House of Commons last night. The measure provides for the issue of "class" certificates to be subject to a "permanent voting trust" in favor of the directors
then in office.

William Irvine, U.F.A., Wataki-ti, Alhambra, who opposed the bill
"chiefly because I regard it as a device by means of which the shareholders of the Sun Life Assurance Company will be permitted to collect a larger amount from the profits of the policyholders."

When the hour for private bills expired Mr. Irvine still had the floor and the debate was automatically adjourned.

F. MORGAN LOST LIFE

Port Angeles, Wash., April 6.—Fred Morgan, stepfather of Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion of the world, was found dead in a gas boat to-day in Dungeness Harbor. Twenty miles west of here. Death apparently had been caused by gas from the exhaust of the engine.

Ex-Students of Old Log Cabin School Will Attend Dinner

The great interest taken in the dinner to be given on Saturday evening by the faculty of the Victoria High School to ex-students and teachers of the institution, as a part of the anniversary programme celebrating more than fifty years of progressive activity for the institution points to a large attendance. Ex-principals of the school who have assisted in bringing it to the forefront of British Columbia educational affairs, will be present. Dr. E. B. Paul, Dr. S.
J. Willis and others, have signified their intentions of attending this dinner.

It is scheduled to start at 5:30 o'clock. Tickets are obtainable from the office of the High School.

It is possible that many of the students who attended the very first class of the Victoria High School, held in an old log cabin in 1876, will be present at the dinner.

MAN ACCUSED OF MURDER SAYS HE RECALLS NOTHING

R. T. Moore Held in Vancouver After Death of M. Douglas Says Memory Blank

Vancouver, April 6.—Robert T.
Moore and Angus Nicholson, advertising salesmen, who are charged with having murdered Marshall Douglas, also an advertising man, here Monday night, have made no statement to the police records.

Moore stated he could remember nothing of what occurred in Room 216 of the Canada Hotel.

He reported both had made statements.

The two accused, who appeared in police court yesterday, and were formally remanded till April 12, have faced the police camera and been photographed for the police records.

Great interest is being taken in the case and many friends have sought interviews with Moore in his cell.

FARRIS IS COUNSEL

J. W. deH. Farris, K.C., will be defence counsel for both men.

A post-mortem examination of the body of Douglas made by the coroner's surgeon at the city morgue is said to have shown the victim received terrible injuries about the face.
The jaw, both cheek bone and the nose are said to have been broken and a large clot of blood was found in the throat.

MESSAGE FROM SAN FRANCISCO

Stating she was the wife of Marshall Douglas, whose battered body was found yesterday in a room in the Canada Hotel, Mrs. Elsie Douglas, 618 Bush Street, San Francisco, has telegraphed to the Vancouver police for particulars of the case, it was learned to-day.

Douglas, according to the police,
had been married and divorced previously to marrying the woman who was his wife when he was killed, and was said to-day to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown at their apartment here.

Papers found in the dead man's clothing included the return half of a round-trip railway ticket between Edmonton and Vancouver, which bore Mrs. Douglas's name.

Douglas was forty years of age.
Moore is thirty-nine and Nicholson is thirty-four.

Burned Aeroplane And Body Found Near Gustine, Cal.

Modesto, Cal., April 6.—A man named Briggs, a cattle boss, reported to The Modesto News-Herald this morning the finding of a wrecked aeroplane near Gustine, thirty miles southwest of Modesto. He said a burned body had been found by the side of the ruined aircraft. The plane had been destroyed by fire, he reported.

Gustine is on the route usually followed by air mail ships on their way from Fresno to San Francisco.

FORMER CORPORAL OF B.C. REGIMENT IS SUING FOR PAY

H. A. Hunt in Vancouver Brings Action Believed Unparalleled in Canada

Lieut.-Col. Foster Says Pay
Given to Battalion as in All Cases

Vancouver, April 6.—Claiming $27.45
as pay, Harold Albert Hunt, formerly a private and a corporal of First Battalion, First British Columbia Regiment, has commenced a county court action here against Lieut.-Colonel W.
W. Foster, commanding officer.

It is the first case of its kind in the memory of court registry officials here and a decision in Hunt's favor would have a far-reaching effect on the non-permanent military forces of Canada.

ENLISTED IN 1925

It is alleged the plaintiff enlisted in the battalion June 27, 1925, was promoted to the rank of corporal November 11, 1925, and was discharged November 26, 1926. He says he attended seven parades in 1925 and twenty-four parades in 1926 and should be paid for them at the rate of $1.50 a day for the rank of private and $1.75 for corporal.

Lieut.-Colonel Foster, according to Hunt, received from the Minister of Defence, 5.25 for the plaintiff's 1925 pay and $22.20 for his 1926 pay, a total of $27.45. Interest is claimed on the money.

Defence counsel will point out that the custom and practice in all Canadian militia units require the men to turn their pay over to their battalion for battalion purposes. It will also be stated Hunt was absent from some parades and thus forfeited more pay than he earned.

MCINTYRE TRIAL IN VANCOUVER STARTED

Woman is Accused of Having Killed Her Husband December 23 Last

Vancouver, April 6.—Hysterically crying and supported by a prison matron, Maude McIntyre was arraigned in the justice court here today on a charge of having murdered her husband, James Edward McIntyre, in the Angelus Hotel here
December 23 last.

When the accused did not answer,
a plea of not-guilty was entered by her counsel.

Twelve challenges were taken for the defence and eight jurors, including three women, were stood aside by the prosecution, before a panel of twelve was completed.

Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald is presiding. M. Johnson, K.C., is prosecuting and J. E. Bird is defending.
R. L. Maitland is holding a watching brief for the defence.

TWO-DAY TRIAL

The trial is expected to occupy two days.

Self-defence will be the line of defence, it is understood, and Mrs. Mc-Intyre will endeavor to justify the slaying of her husband.

Dr. J. G. McKay, alienist, attended the proceedings to-day on behalf of the accused, and has been subpoenaed to testify on the effect of alcoholism.

VANCOUVER LOAN IS DEBATED BY M.P.'S

Bill Authorizes Advance of $4,000,000 to Harbor Commission of That City

Ottawa, April 6.—The affairs of the Vancouver Harbor Commission were again the subject of considerable discussion in the House of Commons to-day when the bill to authorize a loan of $4,000,000 to that commission was dealt with in the committee stage.

G. G. Coote, U.F.A., Macleod, Alberta, protested that no Alberta representative had been placed on the board, and also urged that a careful audit be made of the commission's expenditure, which should be available to the House.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative, Calgary, criticized the operations of the commission and registered a protest to any part of this $4,000,000 being used to pay a claim arising out of the lease of the Woodward Elevator. It had been proposed to settle this case out of court for $100,000, he said.

Rich Diamond Field Found in South Africa

London, April 6.—An exceedingly rich diamond field has been discovered at Alexander Bay, south of the mouth of the Orange River, says a Capetown dispatch to The London Daily Mail.

The dispatch says powerful financial interests have acquired control of the diggings, which accordingly will not be proclaimed public. The largest stones thus far reported on the new diggings weighed 81 carats and was valued at $7,000.

PINEDO'S PLANE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Italian Aviator and Companions Escape Unhurt in Arizona

Plane Ruined as Attempt Being Made to Start From Lake Roosevelt

Apache Lodge, Roosevelt Dam,
Arizona, April 6.—The inter-continental flight of Commander de Pinedo and his two Italian companions came to a disastrous end at 12:05 p.m. today when their seaplane, the Santa Maria, caught fire as it was being put under way preparatory to taking off for San Diego from Roosevelt Dam.

The plane is a total loss. Commander de Pinedo and his crew escaped unhurt and were taken to stern. The aviators leaped overboard for their lives.

Thousands of persons gathered on the shore of the huge irrigation dam witnessed the disaster. Among them were many Italians who had come to cheer their countryman on his four-continent flight, which was to add new glory to his achievements.

AIRMAN JUMPED OVERBOARD

At 12:05 p.m. the aviator announced
he was ready to take off and craft on the lake had moved shoreward when the Santa Maria was seen to be afire. Almost immediately the Santa Maria was dived from stern to stern. The aviators leaped overboard for their lives.

DAY OF FAILURES

The accident followed a day of failures yesterday when the Santa Maria was held fast to the glassy surface of Elephant Butte Reservoir at Hot Springs, N.M., and could not rise until shortly after noon. The plane finally got off, but returned to the lake twenty-five minutes later because the engine had become overheated. To-day's take-off for Roosevelt Dam was made without difficulty and the Santa Maria made good time to this stopping place, covering 400 miles in three hours and twenty-four minutes.

First indication the plane was afire was noted by spectators on the shore when a great volume of black smoke was seen pouring from the ship's motor.

TO SALVAGE ENGINE

De Pinedo announced he would immediately make an attempt to raise the engine, which now rests on the bottom of Lake Roosevelt at a depth of sixty feet.

The fire is believed to have originated in one of the motors.

CANAL PLAN AFFECTS ST. LAWRENCE LEVEL

Sifton Tells M.P.'s Unified Control Needed For Ottawa River Development

Ottawa, April 6.—W. B. Sifton, vice-president of the Georgian Bay Canal Company, resuming his evidence before the railway and canal committee of the Commons this morning, argued the Ottawa River could not be developed without lowering the water levels of the lower St. Lawrence and that development was done under a single unified control, with powers subsidiary and auxiliary to the canal scheme, as was required in company charter.

Under the charter renewal asked for, the compensation would be strictly limited in the event of the Government taking over the project,
he said. Only the actual property and expenses incurred would be claimed. At the moment Canada decided to take over the scheme, it might do so merely for a reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses.

"We feel there can be no objection to that in the public interests," said Mr. Sifton.

MANY QUESTIONS

Ottawa, April 6 (Canadian Press).
—A running fire of questions was put to W. B. Sifton, vice-president of the Georgian Bay Canal Company, at the sitting of the Commons this morning when the bill to renew the canal company's charter was under consideration.

"Canal tolls, estimated costs, power tolls, personnel of the directorate chaired against the Government and provincial rights were features of the examination."

Among the statements made by Mr.
Sifton were:

1.—The estimate of the cost is about $282,000,000.

2.—The estimate of the power to be created is 767,880 horse power.

3.—The canal would save thirty-seven hours in grain shipments between Fort William and Montreal.

4.—The company estimates a saving of three cents a bushel on grain rates from Regina to Montreal, as compared with the lake and St.
Lawrence route.

5.—If the bill should be killed, the claim would be made only for actual property and expenses incurred.

CO-OPERATION WITH WESTERN PEOPLES CHINA'S SOLUTION

Dr. H. H. Gowen Analyzes Chinese Situation For Women's Canadian Club

That he had sympathy for the Nationalist movement in China, but wanted it to be something more than the negative nationalism which expresses itself in anti-foreign demonstrations, and that the solution to the present condition in China was to be found only in closer and more sympathetic co-operation between the East and the West, were two of the inflexible points of the thoughtful address given by Dr. H. H. Gowen, noted Oriental scholar, before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon.

China's antiquity

"China though often disappointing to those who are interested in her progress," said Dr. Gowen, "has the longest continuous history of any nation in the world. The great classics of Confucianism were already written when the Roman Empire was in its infancy, while 1,300 years before Christ China had a system for looking after the social welfare of her people."

With its vast political history of the past, China had experience in almost every kind of government. Long centuries of patriarchal government were followed by nine centuries along the lines of feudalism. Then came an experiment in imperialism, which was followed by four centuries of what might be called colonial government.

SUZERAIN TO BARBARIANS

Under all these systems China's only contact with other nations had been with the barbarians of Central Asia, so that through the centuries she became accustomed to the position of suzerain relating itself to the barbarians.

Not until the beginning of the republic of 1912 was any attempt made to create a foreign office as other nations understand that office. So her rulers never had contact with other rulers on any terms but of exacting tribute from barbarians. Dr. Gowen cited specific instances of Oriental rulers during the past 100 years to show China's sense of superiority. He read a letter from the Emperor Chien-Lung, to King George the Third, in which the emperor invited England's "barbarian traders" to come to China, which finished up with an exhortation to the British king to "tremblingly obey and show no negligence."

MONOPOLY OF AGGRESSIVENESS

"Many people feel that the monopoly of aggressiveness is possessed by Western peoples; but many of the difficulties of to-day are traceable to the equal aggressiveness and sense of superiority of the Chinese rulers," said Dr. Gowen in explaining the attitude of the Chinese to the Occidental.

The first British and American traders who went to China, and on their return to their native land, brought back with them a sense of responsibility and with no governmental influence, he observed. Unfortunately they carried on a great deal of illicit traffic to further their own interests, particularly in the opium which the Portuguese had taught the Chinese to use. Great Britain first sent out administrative agents to regulate the conditions which had already arisen from the illicit trade, and the Chinese failed to understand Britain's action. Lord Napier died of a broken heart because he was unable to carry out what he believed to be in the best interests of China.

"UNEQUAL" TREATIES

This led to the first of what were known as the "unequal treaties," a sore point in the mind of the Chinese who regard them wrongly as an infringement of China's sovereignty. There was no real inequality when the nations concerned were so incompatible in temperament. The extra-territorial treaties were touched upon, Dr. Gowen stating that these were never intended to humiliate, their sole object being to provide a principle of international law by which certain peoples might live on foreign territory under laws of their own civilization.

TARIFF AUTONOMY

Tariff autonomy was also discussed. When the first treaties were made with China she had no regular tariffs of any kind, a high tariff there being absolutely unnecessary owing to the cheap cost of labor. But the great stumbling block was that the Chinese had persisted from that time forward in changing transit dues, these dues being used to support their military.

The first result of handing over the foreign concessions to the Chinese would be to bankrupt over half a million Chinese who lived and had built up their trade in the concessions, stated Dr. Gowen at another point. Chinese as well as foreigners would be ruined by such a proceeding. He maintained that whatever might be said about the few foreigners in China who exploited the larger number were there as much in the interests of China as for themselves.

CAMOUFLAGE MOVEMENT

The anti-foreign movement he described as a camouflage, artificially fomented by the agents of the Soviet who care nothing for the Chinese but are only attempting to break down what they look upon as imperialistic, capitalistic government. He was of the opinion that the moderate section of the Nationalist party would speedily come to terms but for these disrupting forces. Dr. Gowen also expressed the view that China was using the anti-foreign movement to conceal the fact of the failure of the republic established fifteen years ago.

"It is the Chinese psychology to place the blame for that failure upon the foreigner," he continued. Forty-two different administrations had been tried since the republic was established, and the conditions made it easy for the disappointed nationalists to blame the foreigners for that condition.

SYMPATHY WITH NATIONALS

But he had sympathy for the Nationalist movement and hoped to see it more than a negative nationalism venting itself in anti-foreign demonstrations. Unity was the first essential to success, for China could hardly raise its cry with any justice against the foreigners as long as her own generals were so shamelessly robbing the people.

"Even in self-defence the foreign powers are as anxious to give China what she wants, if they can only find to whom to give it. At present it is impossible for China to find any formula by which to reach the people of China," Dr. Gowen observed.

CORRUPT OFFICIALS

Honesty of its systems, to do away with the present sordid state of affairs under which corrupt Chinese officials were able to "salt away" a million dollars a month in their tinkholes in the foreign concessions," was another essential to the success of a proper nationalist movement, in the opinion of the speaker.

"Some maintain that China should be left free to run her affairs in her own way, but to do so would be to set back the clock for centuries. The Chinese would suffer in morale and in every way. If the only imperialism which exists in China—that of Russia—were left to its own devices, China would find itself in fetters immeasurably harder than those in which it finds itself to-day. The Western powers have a duty to China as well as their own nationals. All should learn to be as conciliatory as possible. I think the foreign governments are taking absolutely the right attitude for the future interests of China. I believe a solution must be found in closer co-operation between the East and the West," he said in conclusion.

Miss Agnew presided, and Mrs. Styles sang "The Blackbird's Song" and a pianissimo lullaby.

Keating

Keating, April 5.—The intellectual meeting of the South Saanich United Church Young People's Club provided a very interesting evening for a large number of members and friends in the church on Monday evening. The speaker for the evening, Ira Dilworth, principal of the Victoria High School, was introduced by the president, Mrs. E. MacNab, and a very instructive and helpful address followed, the speaker choosing for his subject "The Art of Reading." Following the address Master Garth Griffiths, a prize-winning young electioneer of Victoria, recited two numbers, "Dominique" and "Maisy," in a most creditable manner, and received hearty applause. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Dilworth and Master Griffiths. Community singing and a hymn concluded the programme after which Misses Janet Sherring and Doris Michell supervised the serving of refreshments. A short business meeting was held prior to the address, Miss Christie MacNab presiding. The next meeting will be in charge of the social convener.

The Junior Institute Club of the South Saanich Women's Institute have postponed the monthly meeting to Saturday, April 16, at the home of Misses Nellie and Hilda Styan, Central Saanich Road, the regular date, April 9, conflicting with the Institute Buhl and Flower Show, to be held in the Temperance Hall.

Misses Vivian and Evelyn Anderson, Keating, Cross Road, left on Sunday on an extended visit in San Francisco, California.

This resolution was ordered sent to Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, H. H. Dickie, M.P., other units of the Canadian Legion and to the press. It was unanimously carried at a largely attended meeting.

TOWER MYSTERY OF WAR SOLVED

London, April 6.—The mystery of two huge towers, built on the south coast of England during the war and never used, has been cleared up. The towers, eighty feet high and built at a cost of approximately $5,000,000 each, were to be the forerunners of many similar ones for the defence of the English Channel. They were to be towed out to sea, and strung together across the Straits of Dover, linked together at distances of a few hundred yards with nets and heavily fortified with guns. In the top of each a powerful searchlight was to be placed. The Admiralty, however, made it unnecessary to continue the scheme and the towers were anchored off Shoreham for some years. One has been broken up and the other is used as a lighthouse off Spithead.

EMPIRE CONFERENCE DEBATE IN COMMONS IS EDED BY VOTE

Guthrie Amendment Defeated 122 to 78; Statement by Premier King

Ottawa, April 6.—By 122 to 78—a majority of 44—the House of Commons today rejected the amendment to the Imperial Conference proposed by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, leader of the Conservative opposition. With this division ended the long debate on the proposed inter-empire relations committee of the Imperial Conference, the report which formally recognized equality of status between the Dominions and Great Britain.

The amendment had been made, not to a motion to give formal approval to the report, but to a motion to go into supply. And when the amendment had been defeated, Premier King rose and, announcing the purpose of the supply motion being to afford an opportunity to discuss the report, he would now withdraw the motion. Thus the House passed to other business.

Mr. Guthrie's amendment stated the House should not be deemed tacitly to have acquiesced in the declarations and recommendations of the report; that the declarations and recommendations should not be binding upon Parliament until approved by formal resolution; that no amendment affecting Provincial rights should be procured to the British North America Act to give effect to the report, unless first approved by the Legislature of each of the provinces.

Closing the debate, Premier King urged Mr. Guthrie to withdraw his amendment and not divide the House "upon this question of Imperial unity as it comes to us from the Imperial Conference."

Mr. Guthrie declined to withdraw the amendment, declaring he believed the amendment to be right in principle, and that it would be found right in practice and would be adopted sooner or later.

On the division the Liberal-Progressives voted with the Liberals. Also voting with the Liberals were Messrs. Spencer, Gardiner, Garland (Bow River), Kennedy, Jelliffe, Luchkovitch of the U.P.A., Messrs. Woods, Heaps and Odendhead, Labor and Neill, Independent. The Conservatives had the support of Messrs. Lucas, Campbell, Kellner and Carmichael, of the U.P.A., and Messrs. Evans and Fansher (Last Mountain), Progressives.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, Southeast Grey, Ontario, did not vote, although she was in her seat when the vote was taken. Under the rules, she would have been required to vote had her abstention from voting been called to the attention of the Speaker. But as no member did so the incident passed without comment.

During the debate Premier King said Mr. Guthrie had sought to make it appear that he (the Prime Minister) was claiming a new liberty had been attained at the conference, and the result would therefore rank alongside the other great charters of British history.

"What I did say was that no new rights had been obtained," said Premier King, adding that what the report did was to state clearly the rights the Dominions already felt they possessed.

Premier King also took objection to statements that had been made at the conference seeking to separate from the Empire and the inference that he was aiding them to get away. Such statements, he said, had political motives. He also denied the Canadian delegation had failed to co-operate in the securing of unity in the Empire. Some sections of the Empire had come to the conference with feelings of dissatisfaction, but the minute the decision of equality of status was made, he went on.

agitation along that line began to subside. He mentioned South Africa and the Irish Free State, and said that at the conclusion of the conference these Dominions were "proud to remain in the Empire."

Mr. King said no promises of imperial defence aid had been made at the conference. A request had been made at the conference for co-operation with the British Government with regard to making a test of aerial navigation for commercial purposes between parts of the Empire. Representatives of Canada had given their assurance Parliament would be asked to vote the necessary money for establishment of a commercial "air" line.

An item covering the building of such a mast was in the estimates, and Parliament would have the opportunity of disapproving of the appropriation if it so desired.

The Prime Minister then referred to the criticism of C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence, St. George, Montreal, which he declared was abusive to the Prime Minister.

Mr. King said the members opposite could heap all the abuse they desired on the Prime Minister, but he wasn't the way to make for unity within the Empire.

"No man has a greater love for the British Empire than I have," he said, and added that no one had more appreciation of the part it played in the development of peace, goodwill and progress.

The Premier warned the House that if abuse were to be heaped upon Ministers for their actions at Imperial Conferences, it would become increasingly difficult to get the Ministers to attend.

"Every man who seeks to make party gain out of an Imperial question," concluded the Premier, "is not playing the part of a true citizen or patriot."

During the debate in the afternoon, H. C. Hocken, Conservative, Toronto West Centre, said he thought it was the duty of every part of the Empire to contribute to the defence of Canada, and declared it was humiliating for Canada to be dependent upon the United States for protection. He objected to the policy of assisted immigration applying only to farm workers.

Every British settler in good health and able to take his place in the economic life of Canada should be brought in, he said.

G. R. Geary, Conservative, South Toronto, thought the report of the conference gave Canada no new freedom which she had not possessed for years. He emphasized the advantages to this country of being part of the British Empire and argued Canada should bear her share of the responsibilities.

Mr. Geary said he was not like some of his honorable friends who distrusted imperialism and who perhaps would not "deny allegiance to the United States."

J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, immediately rose to his feet. He said he had no connection with the Communist Party, and thought Mr. Geary should withdraw.

The Labor member's denial was accepted by Mr. Geary.

DAMAGE ACTION ON AGAIN TO-MORROW

Claiming damages of $5,236.98 and interest from August 23, 1926, at eight per cent, which he alleges is the amount due under a certain agreement dated February 23 of that year, between the defendant in the suit of Wollaston vs. The Victoria Mines Limited, Justice Macdonald, at that time, the plaintiff's case was first placed before the Supreme Court to-day.

Justice Macdonald heard the evidence.

In this second part of the statement of claim the plaintiff claims $5,000 in commission allegedly owing to A. R. Ross for negotiating an agreement between the defendant and James L. Freeburn.

The Victoria Mines Limited has been carried into the case from the fact that John A. Ross, a partner in that company, Johnson is now bankrupt and Wollaston is acting as receiver.

P. C. Elliott appears for the plaintiff and T. M. Miller for the defendant. The case was adjourned until to-morrow, after proceeding through the morning.

TOWER OF LONDON IS LECTURE THEME

Thrilling Story Told by Rowland C. Hill to Royal Society of St. George

Rowland C. Hill, L.L.D., late professor of law in the University of Manitoba, was the speaker last evening at the meeting of the Royal Society of St. George, and thrilled his hearers by his wonderful narration of the great historic and tragic events of English history which belong to the history of the Tower of London. There was a large attendance of members and further arrangements were made by the secretary in connection with the forthcoming banquet in commemoration of England's patron saint, St. George, which is to be held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday, April 27. The committee in charge is planning to invite to the banquet the least 100 of Victoria's most prominent citizens of English birth. It has been arranged to have a streamer of flags across Government Street, the Royal Standard predominating.

Rev. R. W. Lee, the new president of the Society, occupied the chair last evening, and by way of introducing the speaker of the evening, said: "In the history of our Empire we have nothing to be ashamed of if we only demonstrate the fact that we are not only members of the British Commonwealth, but that we are the residents of that little country England, the land of liberty and freedom, and if we carry into the life of this Dominion some of the beautiful ideals and characteristic English traits Canada will be a better country to live in."

UNIQUE SLIDES

Dr. Hill who exhibited a most unique selection of lantern slides on the "Tower of London" titled his audience by his graphic recollections of English history. His reference to the murder of the Princes in the Tower, by their Uncle, Richard, Duke of Gloucester, the execution of Lady Jane Grey, Archbishop Cranmer, whose recantation the lecturer reviewed, and lastly, the murder of Sir Thomas More, were themes which the lecturer vividly depicted. Speaking of Sir Thomas More, the speaker said, here was a great scholar and statesman, who as Lord Chancellor of England, stubbornly refused to approve of the misconduct of his King, and resigned his great office and his life, for the sake of his conscience.

Dr. Hill was speaking on this subject once, said the lecturer, "when one of my listeners, of another nationality, said, 'What a queer lot of folk those English kings and tyrants were! They were always bringing us to think of those cruel things which have been told us of to-night.' That is not a fair representation of English life even through those periods I have been speaking of."

BACKGROUND OF TRAGEDY

"What I want to accentuate to-night is, gruesome as some of the events are, our life has a background of tragedy. Cruelties certainly there were and of kings, priests and political animosities, and the Tower was the central point and strength around which English history revolved. It is not for us to think of those cruelties which happened and happen to-day, but to bring forward to you the fact that the Tower of London stands forward as a mighty crucible in which through the ages, men and women of frailty have all sometimes learned to suffer and to be strong, and it has been the great drama of the English people, and which in its crucible has enabled the English nation to reach out, and had carried its pioneers across the sea to every land, and in more recent times, took them to the fields where poppies grow in Flanders, and it is making them strong in the Orient to-day. Whether the United States, Japan, or Japan helps or not, Britain will be true to herself whatever happens. Think of it as the glorious crucible of souls which the Tower has been in the ages of the past."

ONLY DISTINGUISHED PERSONAGES

Dr. Hill dispelled the prevalent rumor that certain German spies were executed in the Tower of London, or that Roger Casement was executed in the Tower, by saying that only executions of distinguished and royal personages were permitted in the Tower. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer by Alfred Haylam, seconded by A. E. G. Cornwell.

HARRY F. SINCLAIR IS TO BE SENTENCED

Washington, April 6.—A jail sentence will be imposed upon Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil operator and sportsman, next Monday by Justice Hitz in the District of Columbia Supreme Court as a result of his conviction by a jury last month of contempt of the Senate.

The date for sentence was fixed yesterday after Justice Hitz had announced his conclusion that the lessee of the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve in Wyoming had committed only one offence in refusing to answer further questions before the Senate oil committee three years ago.

Government counsel had argued that there had been four separate offences, one under each count in the indictment setting out a specific question which Sinclair refused to answer on advice of counsel, and because the whole question of the naval oil reserve leases had been referred to the courts by Congress.

The statute under which Sinclair was convicted provides for both a jail sentence and a fine, with a minimum of one month and $100 and a maximum of twelve months and $1,000. After he is sentenced the oil man will continue at liberty under bail pending appeals to the higher courts.

Railway Company Has Ambassadors of Dominion in All Representatives

Windsor, April 6.—The Canadian Pacific Railway is the greatest advertiser in the world, and it is generally conceded that our advertising is on a higher artistic standard than that of any other organization in the world. But what I want you to understand, is that wherever the Canadian Pacific has a representative, that representative is the ambassador of the Dominion of Canada, and that with Canada we stand or fall.

This was the essence of the message delivered to the members of the one hundred club of the Broadway Baptist Church last night by C. E. Stockdill, assistant to the vice-president, Western Lines, Canadian Pacific Railway. The One Hundred Club is a group of young business men connected with the church. The meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A. and Mr. Stockdill's subject was: "The Canadian Pacific; World Advertiser of Canada."

CANTONESE ADVANCE

Shanghai, April 6.—While the state of affairs south of the Yangtze River, caused by the antipathy of Chinese to all things foreign, appears to be growing steadily worse, the civil war situation north of the great river is becoming more precarious, as the Cantonese armies progress farther toward the Northern capital, Peking. For the moment the objectives of the Cantonese are Tientsin, capital of Shantung, and Tientsin, railway centre of the north.

Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, the Northern war chief, it is felt here, can hold Peking only so long as he is able to retain possession of Tientsin, for that centre provides the only means of communication with the Manchurian base of the Northern forces.

BRITISH LEAVE

Britishers in the territory through which it is expected the Cantonese now will make their way are hastily seeking points of safety, fearing a repetition of the outbreaks which followed the Cantonese victories in the Yangtze Valley.

CANAL PLAN AFFECTS ST. LAWRENCE LEVEL

NO EXPORTATION OF POWER

Presenting the case of the promoters to the committee yesterday, Harry Sifton suggested that before the bill was finally passed upon, amendments should be made providing:

1. That until through navigation should be established from Georgian Bay to Montreal, all the revenues of the company derived from waterfalls or heads for water power, should be devoted exclusively to the work authorized.

2. That the majority of the directors should be natural born or naturalized subjects and domiciled in Canada.

3. That there should be no exportation of hydraulic or electrical power developed by the scheme.

He was followed by the committee by W. B. Sifton.

The canal charter was first granted more than thirty years ago. It has been renewed from time to time, since, no development work having been done.

TWO MEN SENTENCED IN VANCOUVER START HABEAS CORPUS MOVE

Vancouver, April 6.—Following convictions in the police court here by Magistrate H. C. Shaw for conspiring to smuggle narcotic drugs into Canada, Frank Marino of Vancouver sentenced yesterday to two years in the penitentiary, and Dominic Cristofoli of Victoria, sentenced to one year in the Oakalla Jail, have instructed Stuart Henderson to commence habeas corpus proceedings on their behalf.

Mr. Henderson will apply to-day for writs of habeas corpus.

SENATORS DISCUSS RAILWAY AFFAIRS

Ottawa, April 6.—Senator Dandur and yesterday shared in the debate in the Senate on Senator Robertson's inquiry as to the Government's transportation policy. He said he might summarize Senator Robertson's speech as stating railway wages were too low, because freight rates were too low, and freight rates were too low because of the action of the Government.

Sensor Robertson said this was according to the statement of the railways.

Sensor Dandur thought Senator Robertson had not established his point. He thought the impression throughout the country was that railway employees received wages in excess of that paid to other occupations.

CHARGE OF THEFT

Vancouver, April 6.—Clayton H. Fitzpatrick, New Westminster, is charged with the theft of $3,230 from the department store of Woodwards Limited, here, where he was employed, arrived in Vancouver last night in the custody of Detective R. S. Quirk. He was arrested in Brandon last week. Fitzpatrick faced Magistrate H. C. Shaw in police court at 10 a.m. and was remanded till next week.

BODY IDENTIFIED

Vancouver, April 6.—Police announced to-day that the body of the man who plunged down the stairway of the Canadian-Greek Club here on Monday morning last and died from throat wounds had been identified as that of Joseph Burke, employed as a flunky in logging camps up the coast. Burke suffered a fatal gash in the throat when he fell down the stairway and plunged head first through a glass window door.

MR. LAPOINTE TO AUSTRALIA

IN SELECTING HON. ERNEST LA-
pointe to represent Canada at the official opening of Australia's new capital at Canberra the Dominion Government has made an excellent choice. A distinguished member of the Administration at Ottawa, one of this country's most able sons, a brilliant member of the Bar, a fluent and entertaining speaker in both of Canada's languages, the Minister of Justice will be a commanding figure at the interesting ceremonies in our sister Dominion.

It is particularly fitting that this Dominion should be ably represented at this important event if only for the reason that Canada was the first Dominion to lay the foundations for the system of self-government. Mr. Lapointe will thus be able to remind the Australian people that when the Fathers of Canadian Confederation erected the structure now nearing its sixtieth birthday, its outstanding success recognized throughout the world, they also furnished a model for the Antipodean countries and the other Dominions.

No doubt Mr. Lapointe will take the opportunity which his visit will present to him to discuss the various matters in which Canada and Australia have a common interest. Since a Canadian Cabinet Minister was in the Antipodes last the two Dominions have entered into a trading arrangement which will continue to strengthen the economic and sentimental link between them. Already both countries are beginning to realize the benefits which that pact is producing. No arrangement of this kind, of course, can be considered perfect. Adjustments have to be made from time to time; Premier Bruce, in fact, told us when he passed through Canada recently that we seemed to be getting considerably the better of the bargain. On this important question Mr. Lapointe will be able to inform himself and obtain a better understanding of the Australian point of view than is possible by long-distance communication. It will be possible also for the Minister of Justice to impart some information about Canada which will be new to many with whom he will come into contact.

Mr. Lapointe will be specially interested in the ceremony at which he will represent Canada officially—the formal opening of a brand-new capital that has been literally made to order. It represents a novel method of disposing of community rivalry. When the question of transferring the seat of government became a vital issue in Australian politics it was only natural that several of the larger cities should advance their claims. They did it with vigor and the problem was not a simple one; but the solution was about as complete as it could be. None of them succeeded and a new capital has arisen where there was nothing but an empty space before.

CANADIAN FRUIT

show that Canadian fruit has been going very far afield during the last few years and that new markets are continually being added. This is especially true of the Canadian apple, which is finding its way from both Atlantic and Pacific coasts to a large proportion of the countries with which Canada trades. In the past year British South Africa, New Zealand and Bermuda increased their apple imports from the Dominion by substantial margins. Newfoundland, Sweden, Denmark, Germany and China are all heavy purchasers. All kinds of fresh berries go in volume to the United States. Canned and preserved fruits also have widespread markets, being very popular in Australia, Bermuda, British Guiana, Newfoundland and New Zealand. The Canadian grape crop is almost entirely domestically consumed, a large part entering the wine industry.

Development and expansion of the fruit industry in Canada is ceaseless and presents many opportunities. Cantaloupes are a successful product of this Province and travel as far East as Toronto. An equal measure of success is being attained with watermelons here, and grapes seem to have a definite future in the Okanagan Valley. The Prairie Provinces are likewise making considerable progress in horticulture. Apple orchards planted to suitable varieties are springing up in this territory and strawberry culture is a successful commercial venture in several sections of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Concord grapes have been successfully grown in Southern Alberta, a Hutterite colony, south of Lethbridge, gathering seven large baskets of ripened fruit last year.

Substantial as is the fruit production of Canada, considering the industry's brief development, it is insignificant in view of the great possibilities of expansion and the vast areas of lands suitable for fruit growing to be developed. Canadian fruit has no superior, as attested by the securing of the highest "wards" at various international exhibitions.

A TRIBUTE TO COLONEL RALSTON

IF COLONEL RALSTON, THE NEW MIN- ister of Defence in the Government of Mr. MacKenzie King, were not a man of considerable experience of this world and, it is ways—although he is only forty-five years old—he might allow himself to blush at the compliments which are being paid to him on his contribution to the Maritime Rights debate in the House of Commons the other day.

Mr. Charles Bishop, a veteran of the press gallery of the Dominion House, was particularly impressed by Colonel Ralston's speech and notes that the applause which the Minister was accorded from all sides of the chamber "was a singular compliment" in itself. Remarking also that the Colonel has proved himself to be the possessor of considerable parliamentary powers, and a tolerant tone, Mr. Bishop concludes with the following:

Colonel Ralston had a great record in the war; he is a leader of the Maritime bar; and he is one who, coming from a place where they take their politics straight and undiluted, speaks with a peculiarly tolerant tone. The new minister has a resonant voice, a clear mind, and the rare gift of condensed and essential statement. He talks right ahead, but very quietly and without a stammer in his thought or in the language with which he clothes it. He created a very fine impression in an admirable speech which stamped him as a strength to the Government and a real addition to the debating talent and the intellectual fibre of the House.

This impartial tribute to the ability and parliamentary bearing of the Minister of Defence also is a compliment to the judgment of the Prime Minister who invited him to accept the portfolio. Those to whom Colonel Ralston is known only by name will read the comments we have quoted with interest.

HARD PRESSED FOR ARGUMENTS

ONE OR TWO HIGH PROTECTIONIST
journals in the East are telling the people of Canada that the agricultural implement manufacturers of the Dominion are losing their markets to the United States producers. They point to a report issued by the Washington Government which shows that this country bought $21,840,000 worth of farm equipment from the neighboring republic in 1926—an increase of $7,500,000 over 1925 and an increase of $14,000,000 in the last two years.

These journals very naturally argue that this increase in Canadian imports of American farm implements is due to our lower customs tariff and they are alarmed accordingly. But they do not tell us that the business of Canadian agricultural equipment manufacturers also has been increasing by leaps and bounds during the last two years. Nor is it very difficult to account for these conditions. Canadian agriculture has completely recovered. The farmer has been in a position to buy more; he is less worried by his banker these days than he has been for a long time. That is one answer to the alarmists.

If the Canadian implement industry was finding it so difficult to get along, however, how was it that United States interests were so keen to get control of the Massey-Harris Company recently? They had millions of dollars ready for the deal. Surely this was no indication of economic nervousness as to the future of this Canadian business. They were not afraid of the reduced tariff rates, and, while some sentiment might have actuated the Canadian concern in retaining control, most of it was hard business sense—a faith in Canada which should be more generally manifested.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

RAKING OVER THE EMBERS

From The Ottawa Citizen

Opposition members have done no service to the Conservative cause, nor to Lord Byng, by moving to have the correspondence between the Governor-General and the Prime Minister published, relating to the Government's request for dissolution last June. It has shed no new light on the situation, but has simply stirred up some charred embers.

Nothing is more clear from the whole episode than that the Conservative opposition misled the Governor-General. They led him to believe that they could carry on government, although the Liberal Prime Minister advised His Excellency that they would be unable to do so.

When Mr. Meighen did present the substitute Conservative administration to His Excellency for approval, there is the best reason to believe that it sadly disappointed Lord Byng. It must have become apparent to His Excellency at once that the Conservative board of strategy had let him down. The remnant of that blundering board of strategy should remain discreetly quiet until the dissolution incident is forgotten.

Queer Quirks of Nature

EXPERTS REMOVE ANTISEPTIC STAINS

The gay colored merrucrochrome that has replaced the homely brown of iodine as an antiseptic on the shelves of the family medicine cabinet produces a difficult stain to remove when spilled on clothing. Research undertaken at the United States Bureau of Standards shows how the refractory coral color can be made to disappear if taken early enough.

Application of benzaldehyde followed up by twenty-five per cent hydrochloric acid have been found to work very well on fresh stains on silk. It is well, say the experts in charge of the tests to follow up this treatment by sponging with alcohol and then with water.

Mercurochrome stains should be taken out before a garment goes through the process of being dyed, because when mercury comes in contact with sulphur it forms a black insoluble compound that cannot be removed from the fabric. Sulphur is encountered in dry cleaning plants either in the cleaning solvents or free in the air around gas burners.

Do You Mean What You Say?

"BACK DOWN"

"BACK DOWN"

The coward backs off from a situation which a braver man would back into, and hence "backing down" is synonymous with yielding, and lack of "backbone." There is a related phrase "up against a stone wall" which refers to backing down just far enough to gain a better stance against the enemy. Backing down from a situation enables one to see the danger and maneuver to avoid it. It is said that the phrase originated in England from the game of leap frog where one boy bends his back so that the rest can "get over him," but the action of any army in retreat from an enemy is more in keeping with the correct use of the phrase.

Canadian Questions and Answers

IMMIGRATION TO CANADA

Q.—What is the rate of immigration to Canada at present?
A.—Immigration to Canada, for the first nine months of 1926 showed an increase of 64 per cent over the same period a year ago, amounting to 112,335, as compared with 67,875 for the same nine months in 1925. Of the 1926 immigration 41,419 were citizens, 16,774 from the United States and 54,640 from other countries. The returns show substantial increases in all three classifications.

STATION CFCT

To the Editor:—I notice by the correspondence columns of The Times that the agitation against Radio CFCT seems likely to be renewed. It is well known that a group of agitators is behind this campaign—the same men who have been objecting to CFCT ever since the station went on the air. These men are circulating all kinds of false charges against the station, not publicly, but by stealth, as it were. Their motives are well known and people should be warned not to countenance a movement which is being engineered by a small body of men who claim to represent public opinion, when, as a matter of fact, they represent only a small but noisy minority. The broadcasts of CFCT are as good as those of any other station of the same capacity, and much better than many.

Like hundreds of others, I am perfectly satisfied, and as such I subscribe myself.

hour without either blowing a siren or giving any warning whatever. This was also repeated at Vancouver and Yates Street. Considering the poor visibility at both these intersections and however slow a motorist might enter them, he would never have a chance with such odds against him. Consider, too, that women drivers would even have less chances of averting a tragedy. The city fire department should see that their sirens are working and operate them at all times when their apparatus is answering an alarm. But it is foolish to risk human lives for a mere chimney fire, which might be started by someone else's negligence.

STATION CFCT

To the Editor:—I was more than astonished when I read in your paper that the Victoria Radio Club had petitioned Ottawa to have the wavelength of radio station CFCT raised to 560, or that the power of the station be reduced from 500 to 50 watts if it is to be retained within the city limits. I consider this action of the Radio Club a piece of high-handed impudence, and I am surprised that the rank and file of the membership should have allowed themselves to be stampeded into supporting such a preposterous request by a small group of busy-bodies who have done nothing but make unfair criticisms against the local broadcaster and place obstacles in his path ever since the day he first went on the air. I myself have little or no trouble in getting KGO when CFCT is on the air, and my set is not of the most modern build. If CFCT is compelled to change its wave length to over 500 metres, this will inconvenience hundreds of owners of small sets, including crystal owners. There is more behind this agitation than appears on the surface. I hope the Government authorities will dispose of the Radio Club's application in the manner it deserves, namely, to receive and file it.

"BROWNING-DRAKE"

STATION CFCT

To the Editor:—Why all this storm about CFCT? The station has been on the air under its present ownership for many months now and its performances have been very creditable. We cannot expect to have the variety of high class of entertainment such as the broadcasters in large cities have to offer, but on the whole, radio programmes in Victoria are much better than those in the smaller cities. If some of our people are so partial to American stations, why not go there? Let them go to, say, San Francisco and they will have their choice of at least a dozen all-broadcasting stations.

I do not claim to know much about the ins and outs of radio, but I know that in Vancouver, Seattle and other continental cities, there is the same problem of the local stations drowning out the distant ones, as some complain of here, but of course, unfortunately some of our people are never pleased with anything local. This is perhaps why some of them prefer Vancouver and Seattle papers to our own local papers.

This "interference" with Victoria's radio station from a coterie of selfish objectors is a piece of the grossest injustice, and should cease.

FAIR PLAY.

BRITAIN IN CHINA

To the Editor:—John Bull with his usual fair-mindedness and long suffering forbearance, has been standing a lot of slaps and back talk, and boy-cott from the Chinese the last few years, actuated I believe by a sincere desire to see China and prosper under a central and stable government, for it suits Great Britain's policy and trade to have China such.

Of late we have been hearing from South China propagandists, here in Vancouver and Victoria, some talk of certain aspects of political and social conditions in China, as the prime cause of the present upheaval and I would like to reply to some of these. Although we cannot excuse the actions and attitude of certain white men in China towards the natives, the general attitude has been kindly and beneficial. The Chinese are trying to make much of this question of concessions, and an extension of territory, and I notice some of the Chinese speak of it as extra territory. To begin with it is well to remember that while Chinese are allowed to purchase their own land in Canada or any part of the British Empire, no white man is allowed to buy and own land in his own right in China, even today. Because of the corruption of Chinese officials who could not be trusted to give fair treatment and protection to white men in China, the Powers demanded certain concessions of land, which they might live together in comparative peace and safety. But the question of extra-territoriality has more to do with jurisdiction over people than with land, and it simply means, in the past, the Powers could not trust Chinese magistrates to have full authority over Europeans, but demanded the right of each nation to judge their own people through or by their own consular courts. To anyone who knows Chinese rule, no other method could have been used, and at the same time give justice to foreigners. A Chinese magistrate asks no one whether he shall kill or keep alive a prisoner. He follows the mood he happens to be in, or the amount of graft money he receives, to a large extent. Chinese prisons were filthy dens, without floor or window, mostly and a prisoner was often allowed to starve to death, unless his friends or relatives brought food for him.

Dare we even now, abolish extra-territoriality and place our citizens in China at the mercy of such fiends of human cruelty?

Yes but our Chinese friends will say things are not like that now. Look at what happened in Nanking. Only three years ago I lived in an interior city of China, and every few days I could see strings of men being led out to be shot, without a trial, without a lawsuit. The soldiers go into the homes and rob, steal and abuse the inmates. Are they brought up and tried and punished? No, they are told beforehand that that is to be part of their wages. Can we expect our render our extra-territoriality rights and expose our people to the possibility of such treatment?

Then again, some Chinese in Canada have been talking about our public gardens where no Chinese are allowed in, such as in Shanghai. That seems at first sight most unjust, but those fairly was that the concession given to foreigners was so small and limited. If the Chinese had sold to foreigners several thousand acres, to build a city on, there would have been no need to restrict the small park from the mud of the river, and there is another reason for keeping Chinese out of these parks, and that alone makes the restriction inevitable. Let us suppose that small one-acre park is thrown open to all Chinese, what would happen. Instead of nice walks, lawns and flowers and shade trees, the Chinese would fill that place till there was not even standing room for themselves, and owing to their filthy habits and crude manners the European could no longer go there. Shanghai municipally gave a piece of land near there, to be used exclusively as a Chinese park, yet few would go there. One has to live in China to know how having Chinese continually around you, with their peculiar ways, gets on the nerves, and to get away for an hour into a quiet park where everything is kept clean and quiet and tidy, is a boon to health in Asia or China.

It is unfortunate that things have to be that way but the Chinese have miles of that beautiful country outside of Shanghai, free and open to them, but which cannot be owned or used by the white man. Why do they not make their own public parks where there is room?

I think it ill becomes any Chinese here in Canada talking in this biased way against the policy of Britain in China, and trying to give an impression of harsh treatment as justification for the present anti-British outbursts in China.

Much more could be said on this question but if you will kindly allow space for the present letter, Mr. Editor, it shall be appreciated.

AT THE THEATRES

ACTORS FOUND FILM WORK WAS SIMILAR TO OLD SCHOOL DAYS

Neither Renee Adoree nor Conrad Nagel ever went to a country school but they had half of the fun and experience of it this year. During the making of "Heaven on Earth," in which they play the leading roles, these two players made almost daily journeys to the Lasky Ranch, and consequently they had to eat box lunches.

Renee declared that she had never really known what fun it was to "peel your own eggs," nor did she ever realize that sand is one of the greatest delicacies ever used on a ham sandwich.

Gwen Lee, Julia Swayne Gordon, Marcia Manon, and Pat Harrigan complete the cast of this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which is playing at the Dominion Theatre. It was adapted to the screen by Marion Orth and Harvey Gates.

GIRL AND SUITORS PROVIDE COMEDY IN PICTURE AT VARIETY

There is nothing unusual about a girl having two suitors, but when one is an ex-prizefighter and the other a hypochondriac, she at least has a variety that is unusual as well.

as startling. This is what happens to the girl in "Her Father Said No," an F. B. O. Gold Bond Special which is at the Variety Theatre this week. Father has an active dislike for pugilists, and his daughter has a healthy aversion for a crabbed and complaining youth, so the story revolves around their mutual efforts to convert one another. The girl's choice-acres first by giving up her profession and buying a health resort. There he handles Renee and runs down millionaires, and it is here that the father, unaware of the owner's identity, comes for a series of treatments. Pygm then on the comedy is a riot of fourth-for the boy's helpers are no other than Al Cooke and Kit Guard.

STAR AT PLAYHOUSE OWNS ONE OF OLDEST TIMEPIECES IN U.S.

One of the three oldest timepieces in the United States has just come into the possession of Katharine Ralston, popular screen player. Made by Pieter Viesbach, one of Europe's oldest and best known watchmakers, the watch is claimed by experts to be more than three hundred years old. It is almost round in shape and weighs twelve ounces.

Miss Ralston is at the Playhouse this week, playing the chief feminine role in Victor Fleming's stirring romance-drama, "The Blind God-dea," a film version of the widely read novel by Arthur Train, Jack Holt, Ernest Torrence and Louise Dresser are the other three featured players now at the Playhouse.

OLD-TIME STAR HAS STRONG ROLE AGAIN IN COLUMBIA STORY

Henry B. Walthall, one of the featured players in "The Unknown Soldier," recently celebrated his twelfth year of stardom in motion pictures. Walthall is a millionaire watchmaker, the watch is claimed by experts to be more than three hundred years old. It is almost round in shape and weighs twelve ounces.

Statistics show that pictures featuring this premier character actor have been seen by 710,000,000 paying patrons. Walthall first won fame with his characterization of the "Little Colonel" in D. W. Griffith's "The Birth of a Nation." In

COLLEEN MOORE IN COMEDY SITUATION PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Colleen Moore voluntarily enlisted for several months in comedy studios a few years ago while she was preparing herself for the goal which she reached soon afterward: stardom. She was not a "newcomer" but a "renewer" of the hard knocks and dangerous stunts which are a part of film comedy training.

The result, according to Alfred Santell, who directed "Orchids and Ermine," her latest star vehicle, now at the Capitol, is that she handles a comedy situation with the natural ease with which she copes with the most tense dramatic moment of a story.

The vaudeville attractions at the Capitol Theatre all this week are exceptionally entertaining. The first act introduces Alexandre Akimoff, the noted Russian baritone, late of the Petrograd Opera House, in a special programme of song selections. The second offers Stadler and Duffin, the Original Rag Doll Dancers, in a dainty exhibition of terpsichorean art. The Capitol Theatre Concert Orchestra will play for the feature attractions.

MATZENAUER WINS WONDERFUL OVATION

Enthusiastic Audience Recalls Metropolitan Star Repeatedly

Seldom has a Victoria audience been more enthusiastic than was the occasion last evening at the Royal Victoria Theatre, when Margarete Matzenauer appeared in recital.

So cordial was the applause that it was a case of more recall than programme numbers. Unbounded delight prevailed throughout all parts of the house, and those present will not soon forget the evening. Mme. Matzenauer was in splendid voice, and generous to a degree, singing no less than ten augmented numbers. These in order being: "When the Roses Bloom," "La Girometta" (Sibelius), "Drink to Me—Only With Thine Eyes" (Gold-Only), "Annie Laurie," "At Parting," "Pirate Dreams" (Hueter), "Birth of Morn" (Leon), "To a Messenger," "Oh That We Two Were Maying," and "The Year at the Spring."

Mme. Matzenauer possesses a luxurious contralto voice, exquisitely poised and as deep textured as rich plush. Her musicianship is admirable. She, too, has the great gift of a glorious soul, and is brimful in mood and emotion, yet never was there the slightest hint of exaggeration. Her art, the outcome of great experience and long intimacy of the concert platform, is of finished beauty, aristocratic, resplendent. She sings perfectly in many languages, examples of which were in her splendidly arranged programme as follows: "Ah! Mon Fil" (in French), the great aria for contralto, in the second act of Meyerbeer's "Le Prophete," the "Sappho Ode" (in German), an exquisite setting and love song by Brahms, "In Mezzo al Mar" (in mid-ocean) (in Italian) by Sadler, "Estrellita" (in Spanish), by Ponce, arranged by La Forge; a Norwegian song (Poundrain) in French; the English group, "Down in the Desert" (Gertrude Ross), "Lullaby," delightfully soothing (Cyril Scott); the ever popular "Homing" (Del Riego); Frank La Forge's dramatic and fine song, "Hills," and the concluding number the great aria, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Face," in the second act of "Samson at Daila" (Saint Saens).

Assisting the great diva, both as accompanist and soloist, was George Vause, in the former capacity he was all-accomplished, adequate and sympathetic, while in the latter he achieved much artistic success. His piano solos were McDowell's prelude from his "First Modern Suite," "Sea Chanty," arranged by Percy Grainger, and Rachmaninoff's charming "Humoreske." In these we heard some very fine and well-balanced piano playing, clean, lucid and sensitiveness of feeling. Mr. Vause created a splendid impression and was twice recalled, responding to the prolonged applause with an old-fashioned minuet (Seebeck), and a Lento by Cyril Scott. The concert was under the distinguished patronage of His Honor, R. Randolph Bruce and party, and the direction of the Victoria Ladies' Musical Club. During the evening Mr. Laurence A. Lambert of New York, under whose exclusive management Mrs. Matzenauer is touring Canada prior to her Australian engagements, made the announcement that an effort was being made by his bureau to bring to Canada a wide-side artists with the view of presenting them at a lessened expense to local management. He said that already under contract to tour the Dominion next season were the Paullist Choir, Schumann-Heink, Kathleen Parlow, Florence Macbeth, Helfetz and Norman Wilkes.

The latest evolution in the line of fancy singing birds is a pure white canary, not an albino.

Women's Old-Time Hygiene

Disappearing—New way discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND Registered Nurse

THE worries and fear of the uncertain hygienic ways of yesterday are rapidly passing. 8 in 10 better class women employ a new way called Kotex.

Kotex discards like tissue. No laundry, no disposal bother.

Being 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, it permits lightest gowns and frocks without danger. Dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's doubt.

Deodorizes, too, thus ending all fear of offense. Doctors urge this way.

Many stores have Kotex already wrapped on counters, ready for you to pick up without even asking for it. Try today and you'll never again risk uncertain old ways. Box of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

FINE PROGRAMME AT GYROS DANCE

Fifty Clubmen and Their Ladies at Function in Chamber of Commerce

Over fifty Gyros and their ladies attended the supper dance staged last night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. The affair which was arranged by the entertainment committee, under the direction of Chairman Frank Burton, proved a big success, while the programme sponsored by Gyros Charles Hunt and Robert Yates was enjoyed by all.

Following the supper vocal solos were rendered by Miss Lily Muir, while elocutionary numbers were given by Mrs. Corby and Harry Crowther. Harry Aston excelled himself as a female impersonator. During the supper the Navy League band rendered several selections, and at the conclusion the club voted $25 towards the fund being raised to send the boys on a tour.

During the evening the president, Archie Willis, who occupied the chair announced that Capt. Harold Amundsen, famous Norwegian explorer, who has been both the North and South Poles, would speak at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Friday, April 29, under the auspices of the Victoria Gyro Club. Capt. Amundsen will give two lectures one in the afternoon and another in the evening on "From Rome to Teller Alaska by Air."

A pleasant evening was brought to a close by a fine programme of dance music given by Gyro Charlie Hunt and his syncopators.

Dr. Plaskett Gives Illustrated Lecture

An illustrated lecture on "Our Galaxy and Beyond" was given last night at the Victoria College by Dr. J. B. Plaskett, F.R.S. The results attained by modern astronomers in determining the gigantic size of the universe, as establishing the existence of thousands of island universes comparable in size with the world, scattered throughout the depths of space, were told of by the lecturer. Photographs were shown of such objects as the mysterious Magellanic clouds, N.G.C. 632; the Great Andromeda nebula, 50,000 light years in diameter; and the Spiral Nebula M33, in the constellation Triangulum, etc. Prof. P. H. Elliott presided and a very cordial vote of thanks to the speaker followed the splendid lecture.

One Method of Keeping the Active Child Under Covers.

Mrs. R. E. D. writes: "Will you tell me if my method of keeping my eleven-month-old baby covered meets with your approval? I have two double-light blankets. These I use alternately. I pin this around the baby's chest just snugly enough so it won't slip off and then all the way down as if it were a sleeping bag. Doing this accomplishes several things. It prevents baby sucking his thumb; does away with any possibility of smothering; and keeps him warm at night. It also prevents the bed being wet and so keeps it sweet and clean. I found that large safety pins made such holes in the blankets and ordinary pins are easily snapped open. I feel pretty strongly about this method but am willing to abide by your judgment as I think it mighty good."

ANSWER: Now who wouldn't be pleased by such artful flattery? I do think the idea splendid, in fact I have an idea that more than once it has been suggested in this very column, but with one alteration. Pin the blanket around under the baby's arms instead of over them. I think the baby's arms should be free. Pinned thus under the arm pits will keep the covers over his body, allow him liberty of movement, even to turning over, taking the blanket with him; but not losing it, and his arms can be free to assume any natural position. A nightgown with long sleeves will keep the baby's arms warm, and if it is quite chilly these can be allowed to come down over the hand. Don't you like this idea better?

SCALDING THE MILK

Mrs. J. D. E. writes: "I would not use a bust developer. In fact I would not worry at all but that, if you have a chest nature, find a way to provide nourishment for it. Sometimes heavy braided women prove to be poor nurses and vice versa."

Thank you for your kind letter. Here is one sensitive soul who thrives on approval.

RIFLE SHOOTING AT HEAL'S RANGE

The Sixteenth Canadian Scottish Battalion will commence its season of rifle shooting at Heal's Range on Saturday next, April 9. Motor cars will leave the corner of Douglas and Yates Street at 1:15 p.m. to carry those intending to take part to the range, and all members of the battalion owning cars who are able to be present are requested to get in touch with Capt. S. Henson, the military officer, or C.Q.M.S. David Pyrie.

The Sixteenth Battalion has held a leading position in rifle shooting since the war, and has had a representative on the Blesley team every year to date since its formation. In the Vancouver Island Provincial and Dominion meets the Canadian Scottish has always won a goodly share of the silverware, having been twice the winners of the Gordon trophy, and the victors of the championship of Vancouver Island, and has been four times winner of the Laurie Bugle indicative of the championship of British Columbia.

Not only the experienced shots but all beginners are invited to be present, and all marksmen will be classified according to their ability. Spoons will be given weekly to the best shots in the three classes and winners will be handicapped so that every member of the battalion will be given a chance to win one of these coveted trophies of shooting skill.

OLIVER LEAVES TO LAUNCH BATTLE IN INTERIOR DISTRICT

No Date Fixed Yet For North Okanagan Poll, Premier Declares

Armstrong Convention Likely to Choose Dr. MacDonald as Candidate

Premier Oliver left here today to attend the North Okanagan Liberal nominating convention to-morrow with the definite statement that no date for the interior by-election has been fixed. The convention is being held in Armstrong.

Reports from Ottawa recently quoted the Premier as saying the poll would be held some time in June were denied by Mr. Oliver.

TEMPORARY BY-LAW WILL BE NECESSARY IN ZONING MEASURE

Industrial Committee of City Council Preparing Details

Measure to Cover Intervening Period Would Later be Repealed

A temporary zoning by-law to fix area limits for the three elementary types of buildings, residential, semi-business and commercial, will receive consideration before the industrial committee of the city council this afternoon. The by-law, which is expected to go to the council on Monday night, will be repealed when it is replaced by the government measure.

The object of the temporary law is to set limits for the three area classes of property, including those on which buildings may cover up to thirty per cent. of the property, those on which the premises may cover up to fifty per cent. of the lot, and the commercial class where up to 100 per cent. of the property can be built upon.

Under the town planning act the city has power to withhold permits now filed and which might mean a breach of the ultimate zoning regulations.

The temporary by-law to be considered in committee to-day is designed to give protection to all classes of property within their own areas. Before the final measure is passed the details will be explained in full at a public meeting when the benefits of an orderly form of future growth will be demonstrated.

The zoning committee, which is also the industrial committee, is composed of Alderman H. C. Holmes chairman, William Marchant, J. L. Mara, and J. B. Clearburn. J. B. Douglas, zoning engineer, is preparing maps and plans which will set out in detail the mutual protection to all classes of property aimed at in zoning laws.

NO MOVE AGAINST LIQUOR EXPORTERS IS EXPECTED NOW

With Parliament About to Prorogue, Early Action Appears Unlikely

Federal Government Thought to beAwaiting Customs Commission Views

With the Canadian Parliament planning to adjourn within the next few days, possibly on Saturday of this week, prospects of legislation to abolish British Columbia liquor export houses this year appear to be faint. It is not expected now that Parliament will act on the liquor running business of this coast until its next session.

Postponement of action on this matter is explained by the fact that the Customs Commission report, covering liquor export among other things, has not come up for action at Ottawa yet. It is assumed that the Federal authorities are not anxious to deal with the British Columbia situation until they have had time to consider the views of the Customs Commission on it. No intimation of the commission's attitude toward the British Columbia liquor export houses has been received here yet.

While in Ottawa recently Premier Oliver made inquiries concerning possible amendments to the Canada Temperance Act to cut off the exporters' source of supply but found no indication that this legislation would be introduced at the present session. From this it is thought here that nothing will be done before Parliament meets again.

SHOCKING EXHIBIT TO PROVE LIVELY FEATURE OF FAIR

Graphic Demonstration of House Wiring Dangers at Home Products Exhibition

Patrons of Buy-at-home Display Will Have Chance of Earning City Homesite Free

Patrons at the Home Products Exhibition, to open at the Armories on April 25, will see a unique display of the dangers of incorrect wiring in the home. Under S. L. Wilson, city wiring inspector, an attractive display of electrical snags has been prepared to set out in a graphic way the penalty for neglect in the proper use of electricity with its safeguards.

The public will be shown what happens when an electric iron cord is allowed to become worn, and how fire is started when the cut-out plugs are bridged with plugged fuses. This will be shown with the actual equipment, and will display a wire growing red hot and charring the surrounding woodwork.

For the younger members of the audience the city wiring exhibit will have an equal attraction, as shocks may be obtained from a water-taught electric socket combination which duplicates conditions found in a bathroom improperly wired. Mr. Wilson says he will undertake to shock everyone who ventures to try his wares, but guarantees that the effects will not be fatal in this instance.

What happens when an electric toaster shorts and blows its fuse will also be demonstrated. The exhibit will be one of the unique attractions of the exhibition, and its educational value is expected to be productive of much good.

Feature exhibits are to be made by the Provincial Forestry and Agricultural branches and the Federal poultry branch. The forestry exhibit occurs in the national "Save the Forests" week and will be a sharp reminder of annual waste through carelessness with camp fires in the woods.

Every patron of the exhibition will have an opportunity of becoming the owner of a choice residential lot donated by the city in the interests of the exhibition.

Feature musical and other entertainment features will be staged every night during the exhibition, which this year will be a blaze of color and life. Exhibitors are applying daily in increasing numbers for space in the Armories for the six-day display, and all are bound to a pledge that their display will have life and motion to render it attractive to the public. Demonstrators will be used where other means of enlightening the display cannot be utilized.

A joint committee of exhibitors and the Chamber of Commerce home products committee are hard at work on the details for the event.

A show card contest, with $50 in cash prizes will be staged during the exhibition, with entries returnable by April 25. The prizes are donated by the Holsum Products Limited and will go to the best ideas advanced for the permanent campaign in the interests of the buy-at-home movement.

All the morning a crowd of Rotarians and their wives worked unceasingly, sorting out and pricing the many donations sent in from all over the city and ranging from tins of coffee and jars of pickles, discarded clothing and shoes, to washing-machines and banjos.

So little were the prices charged for the articles that early in the afternoon the bulk of the wares had been cleared out, leaving the unsold goods to be added to the collection offered for auction by Stewart Williams, assisted by W. ## Local Golfers Busy Getting Into Form For Championships

Entries For B.C. Tournament Close One Week From Today; Expect Record List

Americans Will Come in Great Force; Locals Anxious to Bring Title Back

One week from today entries for the British Columbia amateur golf championships, to be held in this city, will close. When the final hour arrives it is confidently expected that the largest entry list in the history of the competition will be placed in the hat for the draw. The championships are to be held over the Easter holidays.

The men's championship will be held at the Victoria Golf Club and the women will shoot for their title on the longer course at the Colwood Golf Club. Entries for the men's event must be sent to Capt. J. V. Parks, secretary of the Victoria Golf Club, while the women must place their entries in the hands of Walter Parry, secretary of the Colwood Golf Club.

GETTING READY

Local golfers are putting an edge on their game in preparation for the championships. On each of the last three days men golfers from Colwood, Uplands, Macaulay and Cedar Hill invaded the Oak Bay links to get used to the lay of the land and especially the large greens, while the ladies from the different clubs make full use of the "at home" day each week at Colwood.

High hopes are held that a local golfer will bring the Bostock Cup, emblematic of the men's championship, back to Victoria. Since the championship was thrown open to Americans, the golfers on this side of the line have watched the trophy picked off for the last three years. "Chuck" Hunter of Tacoma, the present holder, while Ben Stein and Clark Spiers of Seattle, have both had their hands on it.

COMING BACK AGAIN

It is understood that a big contingent of American golfers will be here for the championships again this year. Seattle, Tacoma and Portland will send their best men to the city to try and retain the Bostock Cup. This means that the British Columbia players will have to be at the top of their form to put up anything like a fight to bring the trophy back to its old home.

The qualifying round of 36 holes will be held on Good Friday, April 15, and the first and second rounds are slated for the following day. The third round and semi-finals will be played on April 17 and the finals, 36 holes, are slated for April 18.

COLWOOD AMBITIOUS

It is not known how many American women will come here to contest the British Columbia title. So far the provincial women have been successful in keeping their laurels on this side of the border. Vancouver will be strongly represented but Colwood is banking on its own members lifting the honors. Familiarity with their home course should help the Colwood women.

Weismuller on His Way to More Titles

Chicago, April 6.—The speed king of the indoor swimming pools, Johnny Weismuller, is paddling toward additional titles in the A.A.U. championships here. Besides winning the National 100-yard free style title, he gave the Illinois Athletic Club medley relay team a lead in the 300-yard event that clinched a victory last night.

The 100-yard free style brought out thirty-one entries, and two elimination heats cut the field to four. Walter Aulfer, of the Cincinnati Y.M.C.A., former titleholder at the distance, withdrew because of illness, after he had qualified for the final. Weismuller's time for the century was 51.2-5, one second slower than his world's record time.

MRS. HUTCHINSON WINS

The ladies' monthly medal competition of the Western Golf Club played yesterday, was won in A class by Mrs. Hutchinson with a score of 91 gross, 80 net, and in B class by Miss Miller with 103 gross and 72 net.

LIPTON CONSIDERING ANOTHER CHALLENGE FOR AMERICAN CUP

Shamrock IV, of 1920 and Sir Thomas Lipton (Inset)

Sir Thomas Lipton, famous Irish yachtsman, has that "bloomin' mug" on his mind again.

When the venerable Irish skipper gets to thinking about the America's Cup, most famous and historic of sporting trophies, there is one inevitable reaction—

He challenges the New York Yacht Club to a series of races!

It is understood that Sir Thomas will issue a formal challenge to the New Yorkers in July. If he does, another series of international yacht races is assured for next year as a challenge must be accepted or the trophy forfeited!

Sir Thomas is, without doubt, the world's most persistent person. He has witnessed four defeats of his favorite vessels, but what matters that? And his island friends say he is the most "un-co har-d mon in the world to daunt."

America's Cup has been in the possession of the United States since 1851 when the America gained possession of it in races off the Isle of Man.

Sir Thomas Lipton entered the picture as a seeker of it in 1893. His first Shamrock was defeated then.

He came back in 1901, 1903 and 1920, each time with a vessel that cost upwards of $500,000 and which was named Shamrock and each time he returned to his home in Glasgow minus his coveted "bloomin' mug."

In all, his four trips have cost upwards of two million dollars!

But the desire to possess remains and he is more than willing to try again with a yacht or schooner likely to be called Shamrock V, and which will cost, according to estimates, close to one cool million!

The trophy is just that—a solid silver mug that could be easily duplicated thousands of times for the money spent by the venerable Irish skipper in his quest for it.

If the challenge is made and accepted and Sir Thomas is successful in the race, the one great ambition of the Irish sportsman will be realized. And there are many who have seen him take defeat gracefully who will be wishing him luck if he makes a fifth attempt for the trophy.

Roller Hockey Boys In Good Shape For Big Games Saturday

Locals Hope to Send All Three Seattle Teams Back Home With Defeats

Victoria's roller hockey players are all set for Saturday's final games with the Seattle teams for the world's championship honors at the Armory.

Bill McAllister, manager of the Colanet team, has added some new players to his team, which will give him a much more formidable lineup. The team is holding a practice to-night at the Victoria West gymnasium, and will hold another light workout on Friday evening. McAllister realizes that his team has a real task on their hands, and will have to play super hockey to stop the Ballard boys from taking the Spaulding Cup home with them. Ballard have won the cup for the last two years, and a victory this year gives them permanent possession of it. The team is backed by the Ballard Commercial Club, which is sending a strong delegation of members to Victoria to witness the games.

Percy Payne, who has been away from sport for some time, will make his reappearance on Saturday evening as manager of the Foul Bay Monarchs, who meet the Pig and Whistle team in the intermediate division. Percy has changed his line-up a little for Saturday's game and is confident that his team will follow the precedent of past years and score sufficient goals to emerge as victors.

The Victoria Juniors have been practicing hard and feel confident that the name of their team will be the first to go on the V.I. Hardwood Floor Company's Cup, which is at stake for the first time.

Tickets for the games which will start at 7:30 o'clock can be obtained at The Colanet office or 641 Fort Street.

WRESTLERS BUMP HEADS, COLLAPSE AND ONE WINNER

El Paso, Tex., April 6.—A double knockout in a wrestling match resulted in defeat for the grappler who falls on his back is the opinion of a local referee, Joe Parelli, of Chicago, and Billy Hallas, of New York, bumped heads here last night while scuffling for a held with such force that both fell to the mat, unconscious. Hallas fell on his back and Parelli landed on his side. The Chicago wrestler was declared the winner. He was unable to acknowledge the verdict.

Hallas was reported suffering from concussion of the brain.

James Island Games

James Island, April 6.—On Saturday the Andrews of Victoria will visit James Island for two basketball games with local, senior and intermediate teams. After the hoop games the football club will hold a dance at the club house and Charlie Hunt's three-piece orchestra will furnish the music from 9 to 1 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. Boats for the island will leave that both wharf at 6:15 and 7:15 p.m. returning after the dance. All visitors will be welcome.

In the sixth frame Cello landed a stiff right to McAllister's head and opened his eye.

The tenth round appeared the most exciting of the bout, the pair mixing at close quarters and at long range. Both tried hard to land a knockout blow.

Only One Team From Affiliated Clubs This Year; Season May Open May 24

G. Vallance Elected President; Duncan's Entry Accepted By League

Opening games in the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling League will be played on either May 24 or 28, it was decided at the annual meeting held last night in the Y.M.C.A., with a large attendance of delegates. Entries for the league this year must be in by May 1.

George Vallance of the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club, who has been very active in lawn bowling circles, was elected to the presidency by the delegates and he will have as his vice-president John Alexander of the C.P.R. Lawn Bowling Club.

Richard Adams of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club was elected secretary, treasurer, and William McKay, also of the Victoria Club, as auditor. A. R. McNeill of the Victoria Club was named as the honorary president.

John Patterson, president of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, presided at the meeting. President A. R. McNeill the secretary made an exhaustive report of last season's business and activities.

ONLY ONE TEAM

The object of the league and, the experience gained during the past two seasons led to a motion that the interests of the game would best be served by a minimum schedule of games, which permitted the entry of only one team from each affiliated club.

It was agreed to receive a team from the Duncan Club as a competitor for the Cameron Nichols Cup.

The chairman allowed a general discussion on the place of the Province in the Dominion championships and Victoria's relation thereto, the opinion of the meeting being in favor of giving the Dominion games every opportunity to succeed.

McLarnin Winner

Los Angeles, April 6.—Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver, B. C., lightweight, was awarded the decision over Tommy Cello, San Francisco Italian, after a ten-round encounter here last night.

The fight was somewhat tame, McLarnin exhibiting little of his usual speed, while Cello appeared content to follow the slow pace. The two men were warned twice by the referee to show some action. Ring-siders gave the Vancouver boxer from five to six of the rounds, Cello two more and called the remainder even.

In the sixth frame Cello landed a stiff right to McLarnin's head and opened his eye.

The tenth round appeared the most exciting of the bout, the pair mixing at close quarters and at long range. Both tried hard to land a knockout blow.

He declared, however, that he would return next year to compete in the Indianapolis speed races. He was grateful to "everyone from the state department down to the constables on Daytona Beach," for their co-operation in his recent feat of breaking the world's automobile speed record on Florida sands.

Secrets of 16 Years Successful Pitching

BY GROVER ALEXANDER, LITERARY EDITOR
Veteran Pitcher of World's Champions

THE BABE'S WEAKNESS—LOW AND ON THE INSIDE

I do not consider it any great honor to have held Babe Ruth hitless as I did in the 1926 world series. Any pitcher who is careful and has his wits working will find every batter has his weakness—Ruth included.

The first time I pitched to Ruth was in the 1915 world series between the Red Sox and the Phillies. He wasn't the fence-buster then that he is now. He offered at a low curve and fouled to Luderus.

The next time I saw him was in the 1924 world series. When we started prepping for the series with the Yankees last Fall, my kind friends impressed one thing upon me in pitching to Ruth. It was this:

Keep them from the waist to the knees—the closer to the knees and inside, the better. That's how I pitched to Ruth—beneath the knees and waist and inside.

I pitched practically all screw-balls and slow curves to Ruth. That is, he got only those when I was pitching seriously to him.

JUST A TEASER

I gave him something else, a fast ball for instance, but that fast ball didn't cut the centre of the strike zone too high to cut his reach. It was a waste ball, merely a teaser.

You have heard pitchers say not to give a certain fellow a fast ball. He'll murder it. Or he craves a curve. Don't bend one up. That's a mistake.

If they crave fast ones, let them know you have it—but not in the right spot for them.

I didn't fear Ruth any more than any other batter. All I knew was that he wasn't going to get one where he could hit it. I have been asked how it was that Ruth didn't drive a ball out of the infield in seven swings against me, yet hit three homers in one game in St. Louis—two off Flint Rhem, a brilliant young pitcher, and the other off Herman Bell.

Well, Rhem was told where to put them for Ruth, but he was off a foot with his control; he put his curve too high and the pitcher who levels a curve or a fast one six inches over the Babe's waist line is going to hear the whistle of a home run. If I ever face Ruth again he'll get them only around the knees and he will get screw-balls and slow curves.

PITCHED 600 GAMES

I have pitched close to 600 games in my career in the National League and, of course, I have not won all of them. I have taken my innings like all the boys, but I guess there are three games that stand out most prominently.

The one that gave me the greatest thrill was the two to two tie of nineteen innings in the Fall series of 1925 between the Cubs and the White Sox. Here was the old boy, close to forty, still standing the severe pace.

I enjoyed pitching that game, for it convinced me that the arm still had plenty of fire in it. The Sox scored their runs in the third inning and couldn't touch me again until darkness stopped the battle.

I felt so free and smooth that afternoon, in spite of the damp, cold, raw weather that I believe I could have pitched nineteen more innings.

The game that brought the saddest heart throb in my career was played in St. Louis during the Summer of 1915. After a pitcher has been at it so long he craves for the fame of a no-hit game. And here was one all but in my hip-pocket.

Only one batter had reached first base on me up to the ninth inning with two out. Luderus missed a slow, twisting grounder down the first base line that allowed Miller Huggins to reach first base.

That was all right for I traveled on without allowing the Cardinals a hit up to retiring two in the ninth.

A TOUGH BREAK

Artie Butler was the batter. I was never so determined in all my

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

By Special Arrangement With Golfers' Magazine, Chicago

JOHN DUNCAN DUNN—PRACTICE SHORT SHOTS

I am glad to note that all really great golfers like Barnes and Hutchinson are unanimous in that short game is the think that counts most in golf.

All the great masters when preparing for a championship put in most of their time practicing approaching and putting. All the dubs catch on first in the short game for practice immediately make for a wooden club and wait the ball for all they are worth and the champion club was one whose practice was in the short game.

Get that out of your mind and instead fill your mind full of the greatest "secret in golf," namely, that perfection in the short game is the principal thing that counts, and furthermore, that in perfecting the short game you are perfecting the full swing, because the half-swing is half of the full swing, and if you achieve accuracy in the short game you are bound to achieve accuracy in the long game.

"Accuracy first" should be the golfer's motto. Don't be in a hurry to speed up.

LAILA

A Tale of the Days of Christ, by John Newport

(Copyright, 1927, by Eugene W. Smith)

"Follow it to the third hillock," he said. "Then turn aside from it and follow the narrow ridge directly westward. At the end of an hour's journey, avoid the pit that is hidden, and turn sharply back to the road. You will come to a point where the way is covered with water. Turn to your left into the hills, and ride to the south. You will come to the city of Samaria. You do not fear the Samaritans?"

She gave a negative sign. "I fear no people so much as my enemies in Jezreel," she said. Then her voice softened. "And I love none so much as the good people there. The chief of them is Aaron."

She bade him farewell, and turned back toward the village. The land between her and the road, at this point was a swamp. It was necessary to retrace her course almost to her own door, in order to reach the road.

She turned, at the bottom of the slope that led up into Jezreel, and, with the donkey picking his way carefully through the mire, she set forth on her way south.

Villagers, at work among the vines that bordered the way, looked at her curiously, but did not greet her. She rode with her head down, the halter loose, guiding the beast by the side of her hand upon the side of its rough, thickly-coated neck.

The road led through two small streams, swollen now with the water from the hills. The donkey waded through these, the water coming almost to his shoulders.

To her left she could see small torrents coming down the side of the Gilboa range of mountains.

At the third rise in the ground she paused. Just beyond her lay a village on the ridge that Aaron had mentioned. The ridge itself led eastward to Gilboa. She searched the nearby land with her eyes, seeking a course that would not lead her into the settlement. There was only one boggy, uncertain footing to be found.

With a sigh, she urged her beast onward. In the distance, to her left, a solitary figure moved along the bare summit of the ridge. It was a man, his shoulders bowed, his head sunk upon his breast, as if he were weary. The paths would meet at the outer limit of the village.

A few minutes later, as the donkey mounted the slope, the figure turned and came toward her.

Laila's hands dropped and the animal halted. The man approaching had not lifted his head, but the set of his shoulders was familiar.

Ten paces from her he stopped, and raised his head. His lips drew apart, and he raised the staff he carried as a sign of greeting. "The Arabian woman!" he cried, triumphantly.

CHAPTER XXVII

"It is my donkey!" said Jacob. "Get off, for I am weary." Laila remained on the animal's back. "I purchased it, and it is mine," she said.

The publican proceeded to sterner measures. Taking her by the shoulder, he jerked her to the ground. With a sigh of content, he mounted the beast.

"Turn back to Jezreel," he ordered. "I will follow after." She looked about for aid, but they still were a little distance from the strange village, and only a few children were sight. Jacob reached out with his staff, and thrust it vigorously into her side.

"Make haste," he said. "For I have business to transact."

Laila obeyed. With her face once more toward Jezreel, she struggled forward through the mire, the publican riding behind her.

"It is not so that women are treated in my country," she said, once, as she stonned at the summit of one of the low hills.

"This is not your country," said he. "And further, you are a prisoner, as well as an outcast. On forward."

He struck her on the arm. It was night when they finally reached Jezreel. The woman was stumbling with fatigue. Twice she had fallen, but Jacob had beaten her until she arose again, and went on. As they reached her own door, she sank to her knees exhausted.

"It is well," said the publican. "You will not flee from me to-night. Crawl into your house—I shall return to-morrow."

Laila lay a long time upon the ground before she finally crept inside the doorway. Opening the door, she had carried on the long homeward march, she spread out her extra mantle, and lying down upon it, fell fast asleep.

In the morning when she awakened, she saw a man sitting in the doorway, his knees drawn up, his arms wrapped around his legs. From his dress, she identified him as a servant.

"Are you Jacob's man?" she asked, raising her head.

He looked at her, but returned no answer. Instead, he arose, and motioned her to follow him. Laila drew back. With an air of indifference, he loosed from his belt a shepherd's rod, studded with iron nails, and swung it significantly. She hastily arranged her clothing and set forth at his heels.

He kept the club in his hand, but did not look back to see if she followed. Once, deceived by his air, she stopped, but he whirled upon her savagely. Laila hurried after him.

The publican was waiting at his house, while a servant prepared his breakfast. The man who escorted Laila, jerked his thumb at her, and stood back.

"Your soldier is unlikely to be here to-day, to assault my servants and threaten me," said Jacob, contentedly.

Laila remained standing, submissively. "Perchance he is even killed," the publican went on. "The last I saw of the soldiers, they were trying to fight against lances with their short swords—foot soldiers against horsemen. It may even be that all are killed."

"And did my lord the publican run away?" asked Laila, softly. "I am a man of peace," said Jacob stiffly. "My mission for the Tetrarch and the Emperor was done. So I returned homeward."

"Across the mountain, hurriedly," commented the woman. "That is how it chanced."

"Silence!" he ordered. She drew back, and leaned against the doorpost, while he cut into the hot meat his servant set before him. He took a hearty draught from his wine cup, and proceeded to refresh himself with food.

"Though it does not concern you, I returned across the mountain where I found you, because my way was blocked toward Jezreel," he said, as he held his cup for another filling. She raised her eyebrows. "There was fighting on the hillside," he explained.

"And my master, the publican, saved his blows for women only," she offered.

His face purpled with anger. "I shall deal with you as you once," he said, rising to his feet. He called to his servant, who lingered at the door. "Bring the donkey," he ordered. "Then," said Jacob, "you shall have the pleasure of watching it. We go to Bechabab—the magistrate sits there. You may observe the animal all you wish, as I ride upon it."

He was standing close beside her. Laila's hand slipped into the bosom of her robe. Jacob's eyes were turned toward the stable, and he did not see the swift movement with which she whipped Antonius's dagger from its hiding place, and lifted it for a blow.

The publican's house servant, however, had been watching her. Just as the keen blade thrust downward toward Jacob's heart, the servant leaped, and caught her hand.

With a quick, powerful wrench, he took the weapon from her. Jacob turned and blinked. It was a moment before he grasped the situation.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Tickler

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Outside the door of the bungalow in the woods, where Uncle Wiggily was visiting Boppy, Um and the Woggie, sounded a soft, fuzzy noise.

"Hark! What is that?" whispered Um, who had sharp ears.

"The wind!" answered Boppy. "It may be Nurse Jane, coming to ask me to go back to my bungalow," spoke Uncle Wiggily. For Nurse Jane, being a muskrat lady, was quite wuzzy and she made a fuzzy noise.

"And it may be," whispered Um, with a little laugh, "the noise may be made by one of our little Woggie children, trying to creep softly into our bungalow."

"Why would they do that?" asked Boppy. "They have gone to school."

"Perhaps one of them came back," said Um. But when she opened the door, to find out what had made the fuzzy noise on the door step, there was a dear little old caterpillar lady with a bonnet and shawl.

"Good morning," spoke the caterpillar lady in a soft voice. "Have you—"

"We don't want any needles or pins to-day, thank you," said Um, quickly but kindly. "Though if you are hungry I can give you some bread on jam," offered Um. "Most folks," added the little wooden creature, "give caterpillar ladies jam on bread, but I always give bread on jam, which is much better."

"Oh, much!" agreed the caterpillar lady. "But I didn't come for something to eat. I am looking for my little boy who is lost. I thought perhaps you had seen him."

"What is his name and what does he look like?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who was fond of hunting lost children.

"My boy's name is Tickler and he looks like me, only smaller," answered the caterpillar lady. "Oh, dear! I'm afraid I shall never see my boy again," and she cried a few tears which made wet spots on her shawl. "Now see here!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily kindly. "Don't worry any more. I am going adventuring, as I do every day, and I shall look for lost Tickler. When I find him I'll send him home. Where do you live?"

"In a knot hole in that old apple tree," answered Mrs. Scuzzy, which was the name of the caterpillar lady.

"Oh, please find Tickler and send him home," said the caterpillar lady.

"I will!" promised the rabbit gentleman. "Now you crawl back home and don't worry. I'll find Tickler." So the caterpillar lady went to her knot hole home and Uncle Wiggily went adventuring, wondering why the little lost chap had such a funny name. This way and that way through the woods hopped Mr. Longears, until, all of a sudden, he heard the sound of laughter and shouting. "Now let him crawl on me!" cried one voice.

"No, Dimple, it's my turn!" some one said.

"Yes, let Wumpie have a turn" a third voice begged.

"Dimple, Wumpie!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily to himself. "Those are two of the Woggie boys. They haven't gone to school yet! I wonder what's the matter?"

Hopping on a little farther, the rabbit gentleman saw, sitting around a mossy, green stump, the three Woggie boys, red, yellow and green in color. They were laughing in glee. "What's going on over there?" called Uncle Wiggily. "What are you doing?"

"We have a tickler here and he is tickling us by crawling on our legs," answered Dimple. "We were going to school, and all of a sudden, we saw this fuzzy little fellow crawling on the ground. And he crawled up my leg and he felt so funny I told Wumpie. Then Tickler crawled on Wumpie's leg and—"

"A little fuzzy chap—Tickler!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "This must be the lost caterpillar boy Mrs. Scuzzy is looking for. I've found him!" And, surely enough the rabbit gentleman had. There was Tickler, crawling over the wooden legs of the Woggie boys, making them squirm in delight. "Enough of this!" cried the rabbit. "You Woggie chaps skip along to school! I'm going to take Tickler home—he's lost."

"That's what I kept telling them when I was crawling on their legs," and the little caterpillar boy, "but they laughed so loudly they didn't hear me. I guess they're glad you found me, Uncle Wiggily."

Mrs. Scuzzy thanked Mr. Longears very much for bringing lost Tickler home, so everything was all right, except that the Woggie boys were a little late for school. But the Lady Mouse Teacher forgave them. And if the back porch doesn't come around to the front steps to watch the postman leave the letters I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Squiggler's spots.

A Sure Relief For Kidney Trouble

So Says Mrs. F. McMillan of Dodd's Kidney Pills

Nova Scotian Lady Suffered With Severe Pains Across Her Back. Camden, N.S., April 5 (Special).—"I used to have a very severe pain across my back when I used to wash or do any hard work. After taking two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I was greatly relieved. I am now taking the third box and think they are a great kidney medicine." The statement comes from Mrs. F. McMillan, a well-known resident of this place.

Dodd's Kidney Pills strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood. With pure blood there is good health all over the body.

It is your blood that builds up the tissues of your body, giving health and vitality to every part, so you can readily see the importance of keeping it pure.

"The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel"

(Copyright)

THURSDAY, APRIL 7, 1927

This is one of the days when the early rising is certain to profit, according to astrology, which finds that benefic aspect rule in the morning, while later adverse stars have power.

Good luck should attend those who begin ocean voyage under this rule of the stars, which indicates unprecedented travel in Europe and South Africa now comes under a direction of the stars making for intense interest in its resources and much immigration.

This is read as rather a sinister way for all who would influence the public mind, which will be inclined to accept critically all that newspapers or lecturers offer.

There is likely to be confusion regarding national problems and much misunderstanding, due to inimical propaganda.

Women should postpone important matters while the configuration prevails. They will meet with determined opposition in many of their most serious campaigns for reform.

According to a London astrologer the map of Washington, D.C., shows extraordinary national activities.

Friction between the United States and France appears to be indicated, and President Coolidge is to gain new fame as a diplomatist.

Saturn is in an aspect that increases the avidity with which Americans seek wealth.

Crime is to increase in the summer months in a manner that may cause public demand for better methods of dealing with unfavorable conditions.

Persia and Mesopotamia are to attain interest in the United States, owing to oil resources that may cause international misunderstanding.

France continues under a sinister commercial way that may even cause America to become the arbiter of fashion.

Sooke

Sooke Harbor, April 6.—At the last Sooke Farmers' Institute meeting held in the Sooke Hall, the question of keeping up the traffic to and from Victoria, during the time the main Sooke Road will be closed for surfacing, was discussed. The most feasible route was considered to be from the Sooke wharf by boat to East Sooke across the Sooke Harbor, thence along the East Sooke Road via Metchoin to Victoria.

As the most interested elements of the population, such as stage drivers and dairymen, who are chiefly affected by the closing of the road, were insufficiently represented, it was decided on motion to defer discussion on the subject to an adjourned meeting to be held on Monday, April 18, at the Sooke School at 8 p.m.

Mr. Philip and Mr. Wasson of the Department of Agriculture, addressed the meeting, the former on the influence which the certified seed potato work has in the advancement of the potato growing industry in this Province as well as in other parts of the world, while Mr. Wasson gave an outline of the development and growth of the dairy industry in British Columbia.

The speakers were accorded a vote of thanks by the audience.

Are We Succumbing to "The Pace that Kills?"

Are we abandoning the simple life, with all its wholesome pleasures, in our mad search for excitement, thrills, speed, jazz?

THIS is an epoch of nervous disorders. On all sides we hear of nervous breakdowns. These are not restricted to old folks. They are also common among young people—those still in their teens and twenties.

To what is this situation which threatens the health of the North American peoples due? Are we abandoning the simple rules of health and prematurely exhausting our bodies in a mad search for pleasure? Are we stupidly trusting to nostrums and doctors to maintain vitality instead of taking proper food, exercise and rest? Are we succumbing to The Pace that Kills?

They Rushed Blindly On!

Philip and Isabelle had planned their married life all wrongly from the start. They were not willing to break, or even slacken, the ties that bound them so tightly to the killing pace of modern society. And so they rushed blindly onward—neglecting the duties, the responsibilities and the sacrifices inevitable to marriage.

Then one day—after a gay party—they both reached the straining point through lack of rest and repose—they both lost their proper perspective on life—they indulged in thinly-veiled innuendo—they quarrelled—and then a strange psychic phenomenon was revealed to Isabelle as a timely warning. But in her blind folly she stubbornly refused to listen—refused to stem the inevitable tragedy of "The Pace that Kills!"

You must read this opportune episode taken from real life in TRUE STORY MAGAZINE for May—now on the Newsstands.
